Change in management: Sebastian Studirach leaves ASMIQ AG

Zurich – Mai 12th 2020 - Sebastian Studirach has been a member of the ASMIQ management since the company was founded. He had built up the Media Services division and played a key role in shaping it over the last few years. He will leave the company by the end of October 2020.

The Board of Directors and the Executive Board thanks Sebastian Studirach for his many years of valuable work as Head of Media Services and wish him all the best for the future.

Until a successor is found, Zeno Läber will take over as Head of Media Services at ASMIQ AG with immediate effect and ad interim. Zeno has previously worked in business development within PostMail's publication solutions division and was previously a member of the ASMIQ management team, where he represented market interests. He was previously active in the publishing industry.

ASMIQ will inform about the new Head of Media Services in the appropriate time.
